However, the socialist system Chinese characteristic scientific service to its value, the fundamental purpose of the development of socialist productive forces of the China characteristic is to achieve the common prosperity of all the people, to promote the comprehensive development of human freedom. The value of the socialist system China contains the characteristics of system development and improvement of the guiding ideology and the spiritual support, although the socialist system is the inevitable outcome of the productivity develops into certain stage, however, the socialist system and not with the development of productive forces and formed spontaneously, the socialist system has its special value, it is the proletariat to realization of self liberation and human liberation and live a better life and consciously set up system, as the "Communist Manifesto" in the classic paper, "all the movements of the past are few, or for the interests of the minority sports.
