Abstract. In the report of 18th Third Plenary Session of Central Committee of the Party, the proposal of joint council for public libraries, museums, cultural centers and science museums, etc., has been put forward. Based on the management and cooperation actuality of archives and libraries, this paper has analyzed the essence, characteristics and implementation approaches of the joint council management mode of archives and libraries, and has provided the reference for reform of public benefit institutions.

Background for Establishing Joint Council of Archives and Libraries

In the report of 18th Third Plenary Session of Central Committee of the Party, it has pointed out: “Explicit the function location of different cultural and public institutions; construct the corporate governance structure and perfect the performance evaluation mechanism. Promote the construction of joint council management for public libraries, museums, cultural centers and science museums, and attract relevant representatives, professionals and citizens participating in the management.” It is an important measurement to improve the mechanism innovation and the must to deepen the reform of our cultural and public institutions.

Municipal Party committee and government have issued the measurement: Seven Specific Reform Proposal for Innovation and Reform of Public Institution Mechanism (2007), therein the regulation: Suggestion on Construction and Perfection Implementation of Corporate Governance Structure of Public Institutions. The regulation has pointed out to implement mechanism of council among public institutions including libraries. The project of sharing national culture and information resources, launched by Ministry of Culture and Ministry of Finance in 2002, has integrated the cultural information resources of libraries, archives and museums and realized the share of cultural information among the nation. Additionally, many regional projects have promoted the integration and processing of cultural information resources to provide services to publics via Internet, through the cooperation with local libraries, archives and museums.

With the increase of national economy and the fast accumulation of material wealth over the society, public requires higher level of cultural consumption. Archives and libraries, as the cultural institutions providing the cultural information resources to public, are required to provide the public with fruitful resources and the fast accesses to reach these resources. At this stage, the best approach for archives and libraries is to cooperate together deeply and broadly, so that they can have better integration on cultural resources and provide optimized services. However, the supervised department of archives is National Archive Bureau, while that of libraries is Ministry of Culture. The two departments are belonging to different administrations respectively and between the upper administrations, there is lack of scientific and rational cooperation mechanism. Even via the existing technical approach to share the resources, contribution of digital platform, the problems have been found for period, such as redundant resource construction and different functions of resources carriers. Therefore, it is necessary to establish a joint management organization of archives and libraries, which can project the development globally and manage archives and libraries holistically. It will promote the cooperation of archives and libraries, while make efficient use of personnel and expense to obtain more effective results. Under contemporary situation, it is the requirements to bring in council management of archives and libraries to cope with the public institution reform, to follow up the transform of government functions, and to establish and perfect the corporate governance structure for public benefit cultural public institutions. It should become the inevitable choice of the management mechanism reform for public institutions to bring in the mechanism of council.

The Essence and Characteristics of Joint Council Management Mode

Joint council management mode means the joint council is a corporate governance structure established by both archives and libraries, to manage and supervise individuals. The corporate governance structure of the joint council consists of six components: the first one is the Council, which is the dominant capability organism and final decision maker of all the individuals. The second one is the Curator Executive Committee, which is the manager of the alliance and executes the important decisions in alliance development and activities. The third one is the Consultation Committee, which offers consultation services for the alliance to deal with the problems that may occur during the development and operation of the council. The forth one is Resources Construction Committee, which determines the development direction of the resources holding by alliance, so that the alliance can provide better and more effective resources to the public. The fifth one is the Public Service Committee, which is the bridge between public and alliance for the better communication of information. The last one is the Supervision Committee, which is the supervisor of the alliance, and in supervision of the activities of alliance. The corporate governance structure schematic diagram is shown in Figure 1:

The joint council management mode is the corporate governance structure in reform of public cultural institutions, which is different from the board of directors in corporate governance structure of an enterprise. All the properties of the joint council are national assets and the property right is turned over to the state. For the enterprises, their board of directors in corporate governance structure is elected via general meeting of stockholders, to protect the rights and interests of sponsors; while this kind of election is not suitable for the joint council. The council must responsible to the assets as the owner of national assets, and generate based on the government administrative department, which is the rational approach. At the first place, this mode has clarified property relations, making the joint council become the investment subject with the authority of government. The ownership and managerial authority are separated in this management system and organization, which has effectively promoted the construction of system of modern public cultural institution, and has promoted the effective allocation of resources. Secondly, this mode copes with the environment of market economy, forming an effective management mode in team, which has shown the scientific and effective management. Finally, this mode has enhanced the function of democratic management, which has broadened the communication path for the public, so that public will participate in the management actively, to further improve the efficiency of management.
