Abstract: The development of college student party members is to promote the development of ideological and political education and party building in colleges and universities, and in order to make the party grow and develop, it will also be one of the important measures to receive college student party members. In order to improve the quality of college student party members, we must adopt ideological and political education. This paper mainly focuses on the innovation of ideological and political education and party affairs in colleges and universities under the new situation.

1. The Important Significance of Improving the Development Quality of the Party Members of the University

1.1 Developing Party Affairs in Colleges and Universities is an important part of Party Building for College students

In the work of party building in colleges and universities, it is a very important work content to actively develop outstanding young students to join the party, and it is also a work that must be done in order to promote the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. Ideological and political educators in colleges and universities should pay attention to the guidance of students' values and values, and should also pay attention to the correct guidance of students' way of life. For young students, joining the party is in fact a process of strengthening their beliefs. After joining the party education, the students' ideas can also be further sublimated. At the same time, because of the continuous entry of new party members, the party organizations in our country will grow more and more, which can better protect the human resources of our party building. Enough. Therefore, ideological and political educators in colleges and universities should strengthen the work of party building, actively promote young students to join the Party, and contribute to the construction of the Party.

1.2 The Development of the Work of the Party in Colleges and Universities and the Better Guarantee of the Development of the Party

So far, our country has experienced very much wind and rain, and the Party members of our country must constantly improve their theoretical knowledge and improve the comprehensive quality of the Party members, because the comprehensive quality and theoretical knowledge level of the Party members will make the Party members more progress, And the advanced nature of the party can be guaranteed. in that course of the education work in the university, it should also develop excellent young students to join the party, which can make the party grow, and the school should also create a good learning atmosphere, so that the student party members can get better development, at the same time, this is in the university, It is also a very important education link. In this process, excellent students Party members can also play an exemplary role in other students.

1.3 The development of party affairs in colleges and universities is helpful to the improvement of college students' ideological literacy.

The university should actively train the Party members and play the role of the Party member's role, because it is not only conducive to the sustainable development of the party building activities, but also to create a harmonious campus environment and to train the socialist successors. If that student want to become a member of the Party, the first is to submit the application for admission to the party, and at the same time accept the ideological and political education, and then through the long-term study, have obtained the improvement of the ideological and political accomplishment, and have a certain understanding of the current affairs of the country in order to develop the Party member of the university student. The process of developing party members is the process of ideological and political education.

2. Problems existing in ideological and political Education and Party Affairs in Colleges and Universities

| Problems existing in ideological and political Education and Party Affairs in Colleges and Universities |
|---------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| The thought is not strict, and the motivation consciousness is fuzzy | The selection criteria are not uniform | Training learning is not continuous | The assessment system is not sound | Unreasonable distribution of party members |

2.1 The thought is not strict, and the motivation consciousness is fuzzy

In the process of the continuous development of the social economy, the status of the party members has become one of the standards of the social selection talents, and the status of the Party members can prove that it has a certain ideological and political level, and has accepted certain ideological and political education, and therefore more students want to become members. The organizers of the party building activities in colleges and universities should put forward higher requirements for college students, and strictly check them.

Although there are many college students who want to become party members, it does not mean that all college students who want to become party members have a clear motivation to join the Party. On the contrary, many college students have a very vague understanding of the Party. Most of the college students submit applications for joining the Party because of conformity psychology. For this part of the students, they should strengthen ideological and political education so that they can better understand the ideology and politics.

2.2 The selection criteria are not uniform

The standards of the selection of party members in many colleges and universities are not unified, and the students' ideological and political accomplishment can not be fully assessed. The main reason is that, in the course of the selection of the party members of the university, the student's academic performance is too high, and the students who have made outstanding achievements are listed as the reserve members, but in practice, the students with excellent learning achievements do not represent the ideological and political accomplishment. In addition, some colleges and universities pay too much attention to the number of students' participation in the activities, as well as the performance of the students in the activities, but it is easy to stimulate the students' utility psychology, to be too active to participate in the activities, and to ignore their own learning. and also It is very low to the ordinary students, mainly the student cadres as the selection target, but whether the general students or the student cadres have the right to join the party.

2.3 Training learning is not continuous

Activists often actively participate in party training and strengthen their understanding of the party, but after joining the party, the training of party members is obviously reduced, and most of the meaningful party training becomes more formal. Colleges and universities should not only pay attention to the theoretical training of party members, but also strengthen the practical training of party members.

2.4 The assessment system is not sound

After becoming a member of the Party members, the ideological and political education accepted will be reduced abruptly, which is mainly attributed to the fact that the Party's Party construction work system of the grass-roots party is not well developed, so that many of the Party members are in the Party members, and the ideological and political level is lowered. And the enthusiasm has also subsided.

2.5 Unreasonable distribution of party members

Because the university is mainly the student of the sophomore and the third group to select the activity, and the other grade of the students, and therefore, the other grades of the students naturally do not attach importance to the party member selection activities, do not attach importance to the promotion of their own ideological and political education.

3. Concrete measures to improve the effectiveness of ideological and political Education and Party Affairs in Colleges and Universities

3.1 Strengthen the management and practice of regular ideological education

In order to improve the effectiveness of ideological education in colleges and universities, it is also necessary to carry out party work. In order to improve the effectiveness of party work, it is also necessary to strengthen ideological and political education. Therefore, it can be seen from here that ideological and political education and party work complement each other. Colleges and universities should actively carry out party work activities to improve students' ideological and political literacy in the activities. At the same time, colleges and universities should also strengthen the management of ideological education and carry out the practical activities of party members with the characteristics of their own schools. However, only one stage of ideological and political education plays a small role in students, so colleges and universities should also carry out stage ideological and political water for students. Level assessment to ensure the continuity of ideological and political education.

3.2 Strengthen supervision

Although the strict selection of party members has been passed, it does not mean that there are no problems in the organizations of formal party members, so in order to solve these problems and avoid the emergence of problems, we should strengthen the supervision of party members. Only by strengthening the supervision of party members can the internal problems of party members' organizations have nowhere to hide.

3.3 Promoting the centripetal Force of College Student Party members among the masses

The Party Committee of the grass-roots level should organize the group of activities, let the members of the group be responsible for the ideological and political education activities of the various classes, promote the ideological and political accomplishment of the students in each class, and also strengthen the service consciousness of the Party members, and actively play the role of the Party members.

4. Conclusion:

The development of college student party members is a necessary link in the work of party building, and the ideological and political education of college student party members is bound to be carried out. Through ideological and political education, it can enhance the ideological and political height of college student party members, at the same time, it can also be conducive to creating a positive campus atmosphere, driving the surrounding students, so that the surrounding students can constantly improve their comprehensive quality.
