The Association of the Bulgarian Sunday schools (ABSA) [7] is a juridical person with non-economic aim, located in Sofia, established according the regulations of the Law for juridical persons with non-economic aim during 2007. This organization has its own statute and code of ethics.

Each organization outside Bulgarian borders can be a member of it, which executes an education in Bulgarian language, Literature, History and Geography of Bulgaria, and in other subjects as well, connected to the Bulgarian culture and traditions. At the moment, members in this organization are 121 schools abroad and 123 individuals.

The Association aims to support the activity of the Bulgarian schools and educational centers outside Bulgaria and to popularize the Bulgarian language and culture. It aims to be a unifier of the Bulgarian schools and to defend the rights of these schools in front of the Bulgarian state authorities. ABSA have the wish, and works for a change of the Bulgarian law for official recognition of the schools abroad. It is the connection for mutual aid among the schools and shares the experience exchange. It consults all its members for the ability of receipt of financial and material support from the side of the Bulgarian country.

It prepares specialized programs and methods of education in Bulgarian language abroad. Mrs. Zdravka Vladova - Momcheva, a poet and a writer, a teacher in Bulgarian language and Literature in the Bulgarian school to the Embassy of Bulgaria in London has written and prepared a handbook "Methodic developments in Old Bulgarian literature". She decided to share her long-term experience in the education in the system of the English education. By her opinion, this will contribute to the equalization of the standards of the education, placed as requirements in the global conception of the education in the European Union. This, it is given an opportunity to the students to accept, think over, and estimate the high achievements of the medieval Bulgarian culture, which is a base for their native language and Literature. The foreign experience is used as to break the frame of the lessons and the interactive communication in the class, which leads to a greater self ability of the children during the classes. The handbook offers seventeen lesson developments, compliant to the adapted program of the Ministry of Education and Science for the High school classes of the Bulgarian schools abroad, developed in accessible and interesting way, which can be useful for the teachers and the students as well in Bulgaria and abroad. The edition is released supported by the program "Native language and culture abroad" and it has already very good reflection and application in the system of the Bulgarian University education.

The International Practical conference of ABSA named "The Bulgarian schools abroad - tradition, practice, innovations" was held during 2020 [8]. And during 2021, the reports provided during the conference - the themes are two "Bulgarian Language and Literature" and "History and Geography", are already noted in this collection, headlined "The Bulgarian schools abroad - tradition, practice, innovation".

According to Valentina Alexandrova - Kirova, a teacher at the Bulgarian school to the Embassy of London, there is a great need of "new, adapted programs for History in the Bulgarian schools abroad" [9]. She thinks that there is a row of" of the existing programs", that is why comparing them to the English ones, and the methods for teaching in History, she gives some major ideas for their change. Her book "A teacher's book in History and Civilizations for the education in 5th to 7th grade, organized abroad", published during 2019 is a practical guide for the teachers, teaching in the Bulgarian schools abroad. Despite this, she is a part of the author's team of: "History and Civilization for 5th to 7th grade. A book for supporting the teaching, organized abroad".

Lecturers in Bulgarian language, literature and culture, seconded from Bulgaria to foreign universities, most often teach in Bulgarian Sunday schools, and Bulgarian students have the opportunity to carry out their pedagogical practice in these schools, as well as to work as teachers in them [11].

In her article "Bulgarian Studies at St. Petersburg State University: History and Present" [12] Radostina Stoyanova emphasizes that "The biggest initiative within the lecturer is the establishment of the Bulgarian Sunday School at the Consulate General of the Republic of Bulgaria in St. Petersburg, which is included in the List of Bulgarian Sunday Schools Abroad in the 2013/2014 school year" [12]07 - 708.

8. AN IDEA FOR A BULGARIAN CULTURE LESSON IN FOREIGN BULGARIAN SCHOOLS

I would like to present my idea for a lesson in Bulgarian culture, for example as an extracurricular activity: Making the students learn about the culinary recipes, written in the beginning of the 20th. century. The main goal is to make them familiar with the traditional Bulgarian culinary traditions, and additionally – to get them used with the way of writing down the words in the recipes until the spelling reform during 1945; use of archaisms or dialectic words; the way of composing a recipe, where there had been a lack of description of the products used, and the technology of preparing the dish was explained separately.

Here is a recipe, written during 1920.

Бадемова торта

Взема се една чаша на дребно счукани сладки бадеми, 6 жълтъка, една ракия чашка розова вода, 200 гр. захар, половин чаша брашно, лимонена кора, разбива се добре и се прибавя 6 разбити на гъста пъна блатъци, туря се в намазана със масло форма и се пече във доста гореща печка. Залива се със сърдъкъ сироп.

Almond cake

A whole cup of cut on pieces sweet almonds are taken, 6 yolks, one rakya glass of rose water; 200 grams of sugar, half of cup flour; a peel of lemon; all broken down well with added 6 broken down on thick foam proteins; put in a spread with butter shape and baked in hot oven. Then, it is poured over with sugar syrup.

Here, how would this recipe look like if it was written today:
Almond cake

Products needed:
300 grams of unsalted almonds
6 eggs
50 grams of rose water
200 grams of sugar
150 grams of flour
The peel of a lemon
Butter

Products for the sugar syrup:
300 grams of sugar
400 grams of water

Technology of preparing: We shake the yolks with ½ of the sugar. To this mix we add the choked in little pieces almonds in advance, the rose water, the flour, the lemon peel. All the mix must be shaken well with a mixer. We break down the proteins to snow with the rest of the sugar and we add to the mix with the yolks. We spread butter on the cake shape and we pour the broken mix. It is baked in a preheated in advance oven at 180 degrees C until it is ready. We cool down and we trade (put the syrup in) with the prepared in advance medium dense syrup.

As a challenge, I would suggest the development of home work at a theme "The favorite recipe of my grandmother". This will be a connection between the generations, a relation between the tastes and the preferences for food and dishes in the family - now and before!

The students can use an Interactive culinary map of the Bulgarian language territory, developed by linguists at the Institute for Bulgarian Language "Prof. Lyubomir Andreychin", Bulgarian Academy of Sciences [13]. The Institute for Bulgarian Language (IBL) is one of the oldest institutes of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences.

The knowledge students may gain by studying Bulgarian culinary traditions can be useful in establishing an interdisciplinary connection with the discipline "Bulgarian language". For example, studying traditional Bulgarian culinary naming will help with building a better understanding of Bulgarian phrases and sustainable comparisons [14].

9. CONCLUSION
