Result and Discussions

According to survey results, the current primary and middle school teachers generally has a good acceptance on the "standard" and has a correct understanding for the significance of ethics, there is no right of ethics idea. But at the same time also we found some problems teachers fulfill "standard" requirement existing in the process, analyze the main reason is there is a gap between the level of requirements "standard" set forth in the operability and practice. Specific performance is shown the following three aspects:

(1) Primary and middle school teachers generally have a clear understanding for the ethics idea

Ethics idea is the deep structure of ethics is based on the premise of ethics behavior and thinking, teachers' intrinsic quality of professional ethics, for ethics behavior plays a leading role. Survey results show that primary and middle school teachers generally to have a clear understanding of ethics idea. The vast majority of primary and middle school teachers have a relatively clear right and wrong, and the current status of school teachers of ethics was basically satisfied [3].

Professional ethics majority idea is good for expanded primary and middle school teachers, 81.3 percent of primary and middle school teachers on the current status of professional ethics was basically satisfied, but dissatisfied with the status of professional ethics of only 18.8%. Mainly in: school teachers generally believe that moral training of teachers is more important than knowledge level, teachers hold this view accounted for 98.6%; believe teachers' professional ethics aspects related to learning or training necessary to account for 97.6%; All primary and middle school teachers think teachers should be personal demeanor stringent requirements; think teachers respond responsible, serious preparation classes, correcting homework, tutoring students accounted for 98.6%; all primary and middle school teachers believe that students should be treated equal equity.

Of course, the survey results also show that there is still very little influenced in part due to primary and middle school teachers extreme individualism, pragmatism and other utilitarian ideas, their poor sense of ethics, there are few teachers face diverse, pluralistic, changing Social Trends lack of discernment, some teachers even had a radical the concept of. Therefore, strengthen ethics... training, adhere to ethics and teacher can try, which is the core construction of teachers. The current ethics idea school teachers need to be further improved.

On the one hand, the moral construction, the state promulgated the education laws and regulations are based, system management is guaranteed. Construction administrative departments of education should be strengthened establishes a new system, strict reward and punishment system and other steel [4]. Schools should strengthen the system, to exercise ethics norms, rules and regulations to improve moral construction, building long-term mechanism to establish ethics, ethics construction to build a scientific and effective system of monitoring and evaluation work, as an annual assessment of the performance of the ethics teacher, Appointment and awards, etc. appraised the important basis. On ethics underperforming teachers should promptly admonished by exhortation fails to amend teacher, to be dealt with severely; for serious misconduct, adverse effects should be withdrawn and be dismissed teacher qualification.

On the other hand, expand ethics training in ways to make primary and middle school teachers of ethics increased from perceptual to rational knowledge. Consciously training ethics emotion and strengthening its ethics idea. The formation of new educational concepts for teacher requires continually enhance learning educational theory, a profound understanding of education policies, and consciously reflect on education, enhance the sense of self-education.

Again, noble morality is to strengthen self-education gradually formed, should strengthen self-discipline for teachers, and cultivate self, self-training and other aspects of educational activities. In ethics construction using a variety of external incentives moderately stimulates teachers and stimulate their moral motivation, converts the ethics educational process into individual behavior.

(2) Professional ethical behavior exist deviation for some teachers, the problem behavior always occurs

Ethics problem behavior, refers to the number of teachers do not meet the ethical behavior required of teachers often generated. Teachers will lead to problem behavior management and educational activities of daily student bias and fault. While in primary and middle school teachers generally have a clear understanding of the concept of ethics through survey also found that some teachers are difficult pursuits in action, still there is a deviation of ethical behavior, moral issues when acts have occurred. In the aspect of ethics idea and ethics behavior showed conflicting and uncoordinated phenomenon.

The survey found that 49.5% of teachers have had dragged lessons or tone string class phenomenon; 17.3% of teachers in the classroom had received a cell phone, send the information, reading newspapers phenomenon; 8.7% of teachers have had students buy newspapers information and supplementary appliances or behavior of other commodities; 7.7% of teachers had corporal punishment or disguised corporal punishment on students of the phenomenon; 17.3% of teachers had received the student or parents of gifts; 19.7% of teachers because of the sake of the students and parents There have been contradictory; 49.5% of teachers because children make mistakes please their parents; 96.2% of teachers in home visits or telephone once talked to children in school learning or life situation.

The presence of some teachers’ deviation ethical behavior, moral problem behavior occurs when there are many causes. On the one hand, the problem behavior is often triggered by erroneous teachers’ philosophy. Education is duty-bound responsibility for teacher. However, many teachers in the exercise of discipline responsibility, legal consciousness of casual indifference, discipline methods. Some teachers still hold the traditional concepts of education that teachers for students with indisputable authority, students unconditional obedience teacher is justified, this inequality of teachers and outlook, will inevitably lead to tyranny in the management of teachers, often teacher-student relationship is likely to cause tension, or even hostility and conflict between teachers and students, which led to daily management and educational activities of students deviations and mistakes. This understanding of education and management under the guidance of some fault of student attitudes and behaviors that lead to excesses are inevitable. The main purpose of discipline should be consistent with the aims of education, education is to stimulate students' potential to the full development of students, if teachers due to the use of discipline or undue influence students' potential harm to the physical and mental development of students, it is a violation of the aims of education; on the other hand, "standard" of professional ethics of teachers to make the relevant provisions, but did not formulate relevant rules on teachers' professional ethical conduct, between the requirements specification and practice in the proposed operability the gap between its own scientific and operational deficiencies, the necessary measures to educate teachers' behavior would not achieve the role of norms and constraints, and this is precisely the norm, which restricts teachers' professional ethics behavior.

(3) Regulating professional ethical behavior can become the entry point of improving professional ethics level for teacher

Primary and middle school teachers' ethics generally have a clear understanding of the concept of, but it is difficult Pursuits in action. In general, the ideal state about teachers' professional ethics is to achieve harmonious development of ethics idea and ethical behavior. However, in the current school education, teacher’s positive moral values, does not necessarily bring about positive ethical behavior. Survey results reflect the ethics idea on the positive side for primary and middle school teachers, at the same time, some school teachers there is a contradiction in the moral identity and moral practice of on-line double standards known. For example the survey showed that 98.6% of the teachers have had dragged lessons or tone string class phenomenon [5].

Any education teachers teaching behavior cannot be contrary to legal norms and ethics education. Reasonable teacher education and teaching behavior depends whether adopted educational method, means and measures are reasonable. On the one hand, schools need to strengthen the teaching management and standardize teacher behavior. Teachers' awareness of the law is indifferent breeding hotbed of problem behaviors teachers, classroom teachers to eliminate the problem behavior occurs fundamentally, we must teach the rule of law, in strict accordance with the requirements of national law and the regulations of conducting educational activities. In the management process must develop a scientific system to regulate the behavior of teachers, schools can establish various rules and regulations of the relevant laws and regulations specific to implement the school's management among teachers in order to regulate behavior, improve teacher quality. As of now many schools have developed a "classroom teaching Taboo", "Code of classroom teaching," "classroom teaching ten are not allowed" and other rules and regulations. So that teachers in the constraints of the system among the teachers in the system management to clarify the directionality of behavior, to overcome the arbitrariness of teacher behavior [6].

On the other hand, practice and ethical conduct demonstration. Strengthen ethics training; teachers should give full play an exemplary behavior and ethical role model. Teaching by example is teaching without words, all acts of teachers in front of students of all educational activities take place, will have a positive or negative impact. Therefore, teachers should pay special attention to their behavior; give full play to the exemplary role of behavior. Teachers should re-trivial, arrested a small ceremony, strengthen self-cultivation, set an example, to set an example for students.

Finally, must strengthen monitoring mechanisms for teacher behavior. Should promptly found, help and corrected teachers with problem behavior, in serious cases to be made in accordance with the relevant provisions of punishment, not tolerated. On the basis of the initial knowing combination for cultivating teachers' ethics, to achieve the integrate unity between "know" and "line", in order to continuously improve the realm of ethics.

Conclusion

It can be seen from the above analysis, even though ethics idea generally is positive for primary and middle school teachers, the ethical behaviors still occur. Thus, in the daily teaching activities, strengthening the teaching management, standardize teachers' education behavior can be used as an entry point to improve teachers’ ethics. Schools can establish various rules and regulations to embody the requirement of relevant laws and regulations and to implement the school's management. Therefore, recommended that the authorities should pay attention to further research and develop ethics norms implementation details with distinct levels, specific requires, clear and feasible for teachers; establish the perform assessment system; strengthen supervision and security system construction; seek effective practice ways and means to effectively improve teachers' professional ethical standards. Between the requirements of professional ethics for teachers and practicing still exist a big gap, strengthening teachers' professional ethics construction and enhancing the level of teachers' professional ethics cultivation have a long way to go.
