B. City Image Construction of Zhengzhou-Characteristic Construction of Cultural Image

Urban culture is the aggregation of material civilization and spiritual civilization created by human in the process of progress, and the comprehensive reflection of a city’s image. The reproduction and accumulation of history form specific cultural potential energy, place effect and customs and mentality of an area and constitute the unique spirit and temperament of this area. Scenic spots and historic sites are important carriers of history and culture.

The first is cultural remains. Zhengzhou is located in the central plains. In the areas under its administration, it has been found that there is Peiligang culture, which is 8,000 years before present, relics of Yangshao culture and Longshan culture such as Dahe village, Qinwangzhai, which are 5,000 years before present. The cultural influence of them is not confined to Henan province. It is of great importance in the whole central plain culture, even the broad, open, innovative and harmonious cityscape and freshness everywhere brought by Zhengzhou city. It should be easy for people to recognize and feel the interior quality of Zhengzhou.

The second is cultural development. Zhengzhou is one of the eight ancient capital cities in China and the member of “the League of Historical Cities”. Before liberation, “the Great Strike of February 7, 1923” happened in Zhengzhou writes a glorious page in the history of Chinese working class movement. In memory of the great strike, “Erqi” memorial hall is built at the site-memorial of the federation of Beijing-Hankou railway workers’ trade unions; in the downtown, there are “Erqi” square and “Erqi” Memorial Tower. Long history and important traffic position make Zhengzhou have incontrovertible and important historical and cultural status.

The third is religious culture and natural culture. Natural scenery and colorful religious culture represented by Songshan Shaolin, and tourist spots represented by Songshan scenic spot, Yellow River tourism spot, scenic spot of Mount Fuxi, Guandu Ancient Battlefield tourist area, etc. are symbols and embodiments of cultural deposits of Zhengzhou.

The fourth is folk culture and diet culture. Zhengzhou has inherited and developed a large number of folk cultures, and also has generated and inherited Henan Opera, one of the five operas in China. The hold of Liyuanchun program also boosts the development of folk Henan Opera. In 2006, Henan Opera is included in the first batch of state-level intangible cultural heritage list by the State Council. Meanwhile, the diet culture of Zhengzhou also has a distant origin and a long development. The national famous Zhengzhou stewed noodles, chewy and elastic, with special soup and ingredients, can leave us with endless aftertastes. It is one of the images of city brand of Zhengzhou.

The ancient and profound cultural deposits of Zhengzhou are always the important propaganda points that we publicize. Today, with the rapid development of service industry and the drive of industry with local characteristics, the spread of city image of Zhengzhou will be wider and the influence will be more profound.

Civilized image of a city is indirectly manifested in the behavior of citizens. Except for constructing urban planning, the government of Zhengzhou also needs to guide citizens to set up good city image and guide all the citizens to participate to embody the broad mind of Zhengzhou people and harmonious urban spirit. In the city image construction of Zhengzhou, the characteristic of behavior image is particularly important. No matter government image, citizens’ image or window image, they are means to promote the city’s comprehensive competitive power and highlight civilized city. Therefore, in the city image construction of Zhengzhou, we should highlight the construction of behavior image.

D. City Image Construction of Zhengzhou-Characteristic Construction of Visual Image

According to the establishment of urban spirit and city positioning of Zhengzhou, the visual image of Zhengzhou should be constructed by completely centering on the position of “Green City”, make people feel the uniqueness and freshness everywhere brought by “Green”, and manifest the broad, open, innovative and harmonious cityscape brought by Zhengzhou city. It should be easy for people to recognize and feel the interior quality of Zhengzhou.
It can be concluded from “Table I” that we can construct city image VI system and finally achieve the objective of “dynamic Zhengzhou, happy metropolis”.

E. City Image Construction of Zhengzhou—Characteristic Construction of Ecological Image

The natural environment is the inherent characteristics of a city. Using the unique natural environmental characteristics of a city and the systematic organization of urban landscape can make them become the city image that has typical significance. The city image construction of Zhengzhou should also find individual characteristics in ecological image to build national ecological city and national garden city. Mainly start from the following two aspects:

Firstly, strengthen the construction of green vein and make characteristic space of landscape pattern. Within the scope of administrative region, strengthen the construction of “green vein”. One is relying on the mountain chain of Songshan, and the other is the large “green vein” in east-west direction that relies on the water vein of Yellow River. Within the scope of downtown, strengthen the shaping of green space structural feature, strive to form distinctive natural landscape pattern. Secondly, pay attention to the characteristics of urban spatial layout. On urban spatial layout, we should give full play to the characteristics of Zhengzhou city on urban spatial layout, strengthen the present spatial structure characteristics of “two axes and one belt, seven districts and multiple centers”, and strengthen the construction of green corridor in city center.

To sum up, the city image construction should attach importance to inheritance as well as innovation. City image is a compound system. Characteristic is the “name card” of city. Only by relying on local characteristics can we improve city image.

IV. STRATEGIC ASSUMPTION OF CITY IMAGE CONSTRUCTION OF ZHENGZHOU

Urbanization process develops sharply. Some acknowledged world cities pay more and more attention to the special function of culture in promoting the development, successively put forward series of new demands and new objectives that strengthen the city’s competitiveness from the perspective of urban future development. Build a garden city that “mountain, water, field, forest and city” have integrative development; protect and sort cultural heritage, build five historical and cultural areas: Zhengzhou Shangdu, Historic Monuments of Mount Songshan, Han Culture in Guxing, Birthplace of Emperor Huangdi, and Heluo Culture. Inherit and renovate Chinese historical civilization, spare no efforts to promote the international influence of cultural brand image and strengthen competitive power of culture; realize the change of system of metropolitan area from “restrictions to promotion”, and build innovative city.

B. Metropolis of Chinese Trade Culture

Zhengzhou has won the laudatory title of “Shangdu” since ancient times. The economy is prosperous and the trade contacts are frequent. It is the birthplace of Chinese market competition in 20th century. Except for the prosperous Erqi business district, the development of Erqi Wanda business district, Zhongyuan Wanda business district, CBD business district in Zhengdong New District, Yini commerce and trade business district, tax-protected zone in air harbor also change with each passing day. Trade culture can be considered as a core outline that leads the development of Zhengzhou. Therefore, the overall brand positioning of “the capital of Chinese trade culture” conforms to the development status and brand advantage of Zhengzhou.

C. Famous City of Chinese MICE Tourism

Zhengzhou has certain foundation on convention and exhibition tourism. Especially it points out in the Outline of “Twelfth Five-Year” Plan of Zhengzhou that the development of convention and exhibition of Zhengzhou should “stick to the principles of specialization, marketization, and internationalization and branding, intensify policies support, expand the space and scale of the development of conference and exhibition industry and build conference and exhibition metropolis in China.” Therefore, for the realization of value of Zhengzhou tourism function, on one hand, we should continuously excavate local resources and optimize the configuration of tourism industrial chain; on the other hand, we can use convention and exhibition function to drive and stretch the industrial chain of convention and exhibition and achieve integrative development with tourist industry. The objective system of city MICE brand of Zhengzhou is “keep a foothold in Central China, radiate to the whole nation and face the world”.

D. Metropolis of Chinese Traditional Culture

In order to better support the functional brand of convention and exhibition and tourism functional brand that the history and the modern coexist and combine with each other, Zhengzhou should hold convention and exhibition of local brands that have enough influences. Take the history and culture in Central Plains, culture of family name, and Chinese culture of earliest ancestor, Shaolin Wushu culture as carriers; consolidate brand activities such as “the Grand Ceremony of Worship of Ancestors in the Birthplace of

In March 7, 2013, the Development Planning of Zhengzhou Airport Economic Comprehensive Experimental Zone (from 2013 to 2025) obtained formal approval of the State Council. It brings excellent development opportunity for Zhengzhou and even Henan province, and means that Zhengzhou Airport Economic Comprehensive Experimental Zone becomes the first going-first area of airport economic development that is included in national strategy. In order to construct Zhengzhou into a metropolis of modern logistic hub, it’s essential to guide the gathering of modern logistic enterprises, boost modern logistic enterprises to carry out multimodal transport and container transportation, promote the interactive development of modern logistic enterprises and processing and manufacturing and circulation industry, make investments to build public information platform of modern logistics and construct Zhengzhou air harbor into the Memphis in China.
