Culture Background of Gejia Martial Arts Culture

The Offsprings Regarding Bow as Their Life and Arrow Culture

Gejia claims to be "Como", the other titles include "beefy pocket", "beefy head", "beefy" events, "Gejia" and so on. Gejia history can be traced back to the Qin and Han dynasties[1].Therefore, We can see from the historical documents, in 940 AD[2][3], Han nationality called Gejia’s ancestors "pimple pocket". Gejia has a long history, which can be proved from their custom in the name and also shows that the Gejia have been living in Fengxiang Village areas for at least 700 years or 800 years. According to the Gejia that their ancestors called Yi. Gejia men regard the bow as their lives. The shrine honors with bows and arrows. Bows and bows are also engraved on the tombstone of their ancestors’ graves. Archer entire population regard bows and arrows as Holy things. Therefore, Gejia was engaged in some long-term national study of scholars as "bow tribe." Family love leather bow is also reflected in their costumes and everyday life: leather home woman stuck in a red disc on his head like a cone Yinzan Houyi Shooting Down the Sun, Flanagan arrows, men's clothes batik with a bow and arrow graphics, more than labor, Gejia has even archery as a recreational activity, to express their reverence and worship bows.

Martial Quality Shown by Clothes

Gejia was a tribe that was good at fighting in the ancient. Gejia says that Hou Yi is their and ancestors were generals, distinguished themselves. Their traditional martial spirit reflects in their clothes. Commonly known as "Gejia men have three treasure: bows and arrows, waist Lusheng and swords " [4]. Clothing is a carrier of culture of the nation, from Gejia’s clothing we can deeply feel the Gejia has intense martial feelings. The flowers of Gejia man headdress represent bow. Chicken feather and Phoenix tail symbolize arrow tail. The double-bow silver-pieces represent the double bow that their ancestors used when they fought and hunt. Gejia women also plays the role of soldiers.Gejia women’s dresses are like armor that warriors wore when they fought in the ancient battle by which to commemorate the military exploits and history of their ancestors, which is the symbol of Gejia successful procreation and historical heritage with a rich culture and rich history. Gejia’s headdress is a pattern with arrow shooting sun. there are bows and arrows, bowstring, bow in their silver hairpin. The piece around the head is crescent-shaped, which is the Gejia ancestors recorded about shooting, hunting life and commemorates the great achievements of ancestors shooting suns. Nine different styles of knives, swords, halberds, spears and other weapons hanging from the necklaces mean that weapons that Gejia ancestors defended palace. The patterns on the apron shows the weapons such as swords, spears and other weapons. The patterns on the leggings reproduce the fighting scenes that Gejia ancestors led 99999 military forces and fought. For thousands of years, the hat and clothes of Gejia women have experienced many storms, snow and rain and have maintained a traditional shape which are closely related to Gejia’s labor, and adapt to the natural environment. And the national psychology of worship martial arts is a more important factor.

Analysis of Gejia Wushu Culture

Gejia Wushu With Unique Style
With Close Ties To Hunting

History says Gejia "Men’s temperament is wild" [5], "Being fond of military accomplishments " [6], "Wearing swords day and night" [7], known as the martial arts tradition. Men are good at riding and shooting, women are also good at bow-horse skill, and good at martial arts. When Gejia originated is unable to prove. Gejia people said their ancestor in ancient times is a superb martial military officer in a court. Because their ancestor repeatedly made military victory, so he was appreciated by the emperor and was given a coat armor as a reward. Women’s clothes is like armor, which is the commemoration of ancestor’s military exploits and history. The hero in the legend <The bamboo returning to their own parents > was a superb martial man. In the battle, because the Gejia ancestors were very heroic, they were praised as "Ga bucket is good at martial arts). The forming of Gejia martial spirit is the result from their harsh natural environment. (Qing) "Guizhou Annals" contains: " Gejia depends on hunting for living." [8] [9] [10] In the long term, Gejia people have been fighting with wild birds and fierce beasts, so they have acquired sets of unusual martial arts, including Gun, Bang, Dao, Jian, Qiang, arrows and other Gejia martial arts. Sensitivity, variability, non routine become its characteristics.

Sacrifice Style of Gejia Martial Arts

According to "Roche Genealogy" contains: Roche family martial arts equipment in stick, stick, knife, guns, swords, arrows, etc, especially crucial stick, sticks and punches. Gejia Martial arts development so far, each of Roche family has a wide variety of martial arts, such as "Cow-tail stick", "Huwei stick", "Si Menkai Boxing", "Ba Menfang Boxing", poison crossbow, Shidi Boxing and so on. Gejia stick relatively stout, length of about 170 centimeters, making Gejia be safer in a duel with the beast. A In addition, such a stick can serve as a tool for carrying prey. Because Gejia stick is often dup by prey blood, so its color is dark red. Therefore, the stick is the most common kind of Gejia weapon. Stick work also has kept a relatively perfect one of Gejia martial arts. Gejia claims to be descendants of Hou Yi. Since the ancient times, Gejia puts red and white bows and arrows made of bamboo on their table of God, which represents incense, and worships ancestors and misses the merits of ancestors. The arrows as incense hang on the wall of room after a certain ceremony. That is on the first day of new year, Gejia do sacrifice for the incense in a businesslike manner, and then you can hang a wall inside. Thus, archery for Gejia especially is very sacred. The roche genealogy requires all male family to practice Gejia Wushu and proud of kung fu. Ready to fight enemies at any time and proud of defend the people life and property.

The Inheritance And Its Characteristics Of Gejia Martial Arts

From the end of the harvest to April the following year every year, it is the time that Gejia practice Wushu and it is done in the night. The practitioners are under 15 years of age. The kind of martial arts is forbidden to teach others outside of Gejia, only inside Gejia family. And only teach men, female have no qualification to learn it. They think if others have learnt their martial arts, some unscrupulous foreign student are easy to disobey the teachers in the extreme, eventually, in turn, they will kill the teachers. In addition, Gejia man says that women was of a suspicious nature, having super memory. If they are taught martial arts, once they have dissatisfaction to man, they will use martial arts to cope with men. Maternal age matriarchies will resume, man will be enslaved by them. Therefore, Gejia martial arts has inherited the conservative tradition since ancient times. That Gejia warrior teach martial arts is free. The masters pay attention to Wushu morality and Wushu culture education of disciples, especially when disciples have finished his study, the master asks him to burn incense paper and swear in front of the fire, martial arts can be used to self-defense and keep body strong, but not crime bravado, not deceives man and bully woman, undisciplined. Otherwise, the master and the other disciples will kill him.

The Existing Forms and Development Status of Gejia Wushu Culture in Festivals and Customs

Wushu Culture in Harong
"Ha-jung," understood as a great customary worship of Gejia. Hanzu call it Tiao Guzhang. "Ha," it means in Gejia: meeting, seeing. "Rong", means Numerous, prosperous. During the "Ha Jung Festival", Gejia celebrate it by ancestor drum sacrifice, lusheng dancing, arrow dancing, stick dancing, bull fighting, rodeo, archery and other activities, which is a sports event. During the whole "Ha" festival, Liao Shi members of the family are all dressed up. Old men are dressed in a red satin gown, their embroidery caps are around silver double bow and arrow, with a chicken-feather- phoenix-tail arrow inserted; Young men wear red-tassel-shooting-sun hat, dressed in armor, just like a woman, blowing lusheng and dancing. There are more than twelve thousand people on the level ground of worship ancestors. They have ancestor worship activity for three consecutive days. They not only kill cows, kill pigs, dance lusheng dancing, and having five-bowl, five-cans, five-knives worship ceremony, but also they have a ceremony “shooting the developed bird” (The developed bird is a bird just like woman with feminine traits outstanding). If young men shoots into the vagina, it predicts they will have many children and grandchildren. If he shoots into the breast, it predicts they will have ample food and clothing. If he shoots into the mouth, it predicts their offsprings will be talkative. The whole festival shows Gejia’s warrior customs.

The Martial Arts Culture of Birth Ceremony
"Xiangzhumu" is a life ceremony in the birth ritual, the ceremony is to celebrate Gejia child born after the first child, with distinctive national features. "Xiangzhumu" has an important role in many rites of Gejia, contains a variety of survival idea, reflecting the people's attention to the reproduction, which is thriving symbol of the family. It is the blessing of the newborn, is a heritage of ancient customs, but also a traditional education of martial arts worship. "The ceremony of the first baby has strong clan concepts and strong national consciousness about the next generation. During the ceremony, the song "Origin of Song" is compulsory pieces, the content includes mainly Wu Ding Shooting suns, ancestors fighting with tiger and so on. At the same time, they also have a ceremony called shooting suns. The course is that one man lifts a object like sun, the other man shoots the object, so as to commemorate the deeds that their ancestor YI shot six suns and six moons.

Wushu Culture in Funeral Custom Gejia funeral customs is influenced by Han, still maintains some of the features and Gejia legacy. Gejia funeral has five characteristics: "Guizong diagram", paying a condolence call with dogs, tooth notching[11] and carve out a way. The five parts embody Gejia’s martial spirit. Especially "Guizong diagram" embodies martial customs more strongly. In Gejia, if the elderly is dead, villagers will send "Guizong diagram" to it, which is also known as a shield, a foot long, square, red, green and black on green cloth embroidered into. Men's pattern is the "亚" character with "十" set in it, like the pictograms combinations of bows, arrows, which means Gejia experienced war in the ancient time, embodies the worship of ancestors, and hope to get their blessing, in order to secure against god knife and spectral bolt, arrive at ancestors’ hometown. As descendants of archery's master, Gejia worship crossbow and arrow, and regard crossbow and arrow as a sign of ancestors'spirit [12], which is understandable. The “Guizong diagram” of woman is an octagonal pattern shield with black red yellow and green embroidered in it. Octogonal pattern represents the banner that ancestors used when they fought. A small round mirror is put in the lining of shield, which means: Drive evils and ward off bad luck bless victorious. Cross pattern represents 99999 horses the ancestors led when they fought. That pay a condolence call with dogs embodies the customs that Gejia ancestors. “Taking swords and crossbows in a year, hunting deer and sparrow into the mountains” [13]. When a martial arts master dies, Gejia people will have a party that play martial arts, which is to send it back to the dead, By which thank teacher of teaching them martial arts.

Martial Arts Rhyme In Lusheng Dancing

Lusheng dance is Gejia’s favorite folk dancer. Gejia’s praise: Dancing and Blowing Lusheng, ancestors have a peaceful mind. Following Lusheng. Heart does not shake, either feet."The figure of lusheng dance can be seen in gejia weddings, festival activities.According to incomplete statistics, lusheng dance has more than 250 kinds of jump methods. According to the folk lusheng players, dance lusheng dancing three days and three nights and don't repeat. Gejia has a kind of lusheng dance with rich martial arts cultural characteristics, whic can be said to be the wonderful work in martial arts. The play is that the trainers practice with the rhythm of the lusheng, dancing and boxing; Alternately to dance, and throws a kumite; Action rhythm is bright, very beautiful. The lusheng dance performance technique difficulty is very big, it requires that the performer are playing lusheng while they are doing the actions such as hanging, turning over, standing upside down and so on. side to fall back, hanging, tumbling, upside down. In the text to be translated

Conclusion

In order to survive and develop, Gejia has created rich and colorful martial arts culture. The martial arts culture penetrates into every aspect of Gejia lives, embodies Gejia’s martial national character and national character. They cherish the memory of their ancestors by martial arts. Strives for the survival by the Wushu, to pray for good crop next year, to pray for peace and prosperity for the coming year, pray to thrive, to comfort the dead, and so on.
