2. Our Proposed Methodology

2.1 The Properties of the Values.

Values is the study of socialism is an important perspective. But for a long time, in the study of theory of scientific socialism, the scientific nature of Marxism is a high degree of attention, and value is neglected or has intention to not intentional of avoidance. This caused a serious lack of theory both at the same time also lead to serious mistakes in practice. In fact, the intrinsic values in the theory, movement and the system of general socialism, in a sense, whether socialism theory, movement, or the socialist system, is the pursuit of socialist value and its implementation.

Socialist core values only penetrates into every aspect of daily life, only with the specific, can sense the day-to-day work of the form, can make people perceive it, understand it in their life. As a result, all types of schools at all levels actively conducive to carry forward the general mainstream values of life situation and cultural atmosphere, in the socialist core values of the basic day-to-day work, specific, visualization, and life. Specifically, the day-to-day education as a kind of comfortable, continuous and regular education activities, can put the socialist core values education from a limited class extends to the vast reality life and make everyday life not only students experience, cognitive, recognition and practice the socialist core values [3-4].

System of thought or ideology is a process of the social life system, theoretical reflection that is the understanding of the world. It can make us insights into the human activities, and belong to the world their own basic structure, at the same time can make us understand these activities and the world as organic whole. All human beings "life event" is directed to create value, through their own activities make the world to meet the need of human beings, the world become true unity of the world, the implementation of that significant value in the development of the world. Therefore, philosophy or ideology to reflect social life process, is not only a reflection of an intuitive, descriptive, and contain the value of creative consciousness. Socialism is to adapt to the proletariat and advances human get rid of the exploitation and oppression of capital, the needs of the liberation of mankind was proposed and established. So for the proletariat and the progress of human society, no matter from the theory, sport is a kind of system, means a kind of with the survival and development of the proletariat and the masses of the people that is closely related with the liberation of their fundamental value.

2.2 The Modern Chinese Values.

The complex of the world, but is that it consists of endless things with endless movement, rather than a single element with a single movement, therefore, the idea of a single and single perspective, is not enough to reflect the face of the world. China in the past because of thousands of years of feudal autocratic that rule is a unified centralized system, correspondingly, unified values or unified values dominate, and form a kind of deep, has a long history of traditional thoughts.

The Chinese nation has a long history and profound traditional culture that embodies the Chinese nation's deep value pursuit, for the tenacity of the Chinese nation and development provides a rich nourishing. Socialist core values is the founding of the contemporary China, is a spiritual support, and in the development of the Chinese national rejuvenation of the China's people's daily unknowingly spiritual sustenance, we must be rooted in splendid culture of tradition and deep soil of a nation.

Cultural values thought, looking at the world frontier scientific and cultural development as is the socialist cultural values in order to adapt to a variety of social conditions and the expansion of its own logic, for the cultural values of the socialism with Chinese characteristics to further improve opened up new horizons. In ideological and the moral qualities and scientific cultural quality education as the main content of socialist spiritual civilization is superior to the basic point of capitalism as is human's free comprehensive development. From the point of view of the general human society development, pioneered by the bourgeoisie civilization than before all civilization is a historical progress [5].

Basically, every age people's values are from their life of society as is a certain social material life style, political law system, the concept of cultural factors such as traditional beneficence, subtly, the result of the influence and shape. So, values must timely, nationality and class nature.

2.3 Traditional Culture Characteristics.

The Chinese traditional culture is refers to the history of Chinese nation formed with Confucianism as the core, with a variety of ideological content of the social culture system. Its main contents and thoughts in ancient attribute is basic finalize the design, and presents the independence, stability and openness, creativity, the character of the both. As the degree of globalization, countries in the field of ideology and culture exchange and collision also showed a trend of increasing.

Agricultural characteristics of Chinese culture is appropriate, it shows that the natural economy based on the agricultural production is the dominant aspects of the material basis of basic Chinese traditional culture and dominant strength, at the same time, the agricultural economy and is not the only or all of the economic basis, the traditional culture with other economic industry and interweave each other and form a kind of multiple economic structure, as it is this agricultural natural economy as the core of multiple economic structure to shape the history of Chinese traditional culture provides the influence of the economic power of basic action. From the national consciousness, strengthen law and general phenomena of contemporary China and the ethnic problems, the formation of the nation are also is closely related to certain political interests, but these phenomena are the appearance of issues.

Thus it can be seen that once the same emphasis on distinguishing cultural sexual function, culture has become the purpose of the political tool, also had the characteristics of political ethnic traditional culture. At the same time, the distinguishing characteristics of culture as often will also become a kind of meet curious "he" culture of business selling point. An overall national traditional culture activity, political and commercial performance was born. We analyze that the relationship between ethnic and cultural front, recognize that culture is only a means of national existence and development. Although the culture of human development has a strong binding, but it is not a human being or the individual inherent in the inevitable choice, it has dual attributes. But as a whole culture, it can be divided into the material culture, system culture and spiritual culture three levels, and the first two levels, mainly producing and maintaining, and spiritual culture to a certain extent that is identified.

2.4 Modern Culture Integration.

Since the human into the knowledge economy and information age, increasing globalization of the world economy has entered a new historical stage of the development. This stage with the traditional economic development of the fundamental difference lies in: determine the leading factor in the economic and social development has been from previous technology, capital and other production information into knowledge, information and culture with modern character. That is to say, culture in the process of the development of productive forces began to play an increasingly important role.

In front of the culture and "modern" two words becomes a relative concept rather than an absolute concept. Thus, the concept of "modern culture" is a dynamic rather than a static concept, is a relative concept of traditional culture. History in the extension, the modern in the passage today's modern is the ancient tomorrow dominated by the philosophy of "ancient culture, modern culture dominated by science and the ancient only national culture and regional culture, formed the international modern culture, it is a science and technology as the core, the eclectic the essence of different cultures and the countries of the world's elite to create new culture. The relationship between culture and the realistic society, the role of culture as culture, he argues, has guidance and control action to the society, it is not only to guide and control people's mental, emotional, and provide people with values, ideas, methods, norms, so that people in a certain cultural system oriented to life, action, and also then influence the development of modern social economy and culture.
