There are two versions about it. One refers to the early Han people in southern China; another is Guyue people or Guli people, who are excluded by the people who lived on land, and they lived on the sea over the years. It is not an independent nation, but a general designation of the residents living in the coastal water in China, and it belongs to the Han nationality\textsuperscript{[1]}. They live on the sea with a boat as a home all the year. Located in the Qinzhou Gulf, Xinujiaw town where Danjia people gathered has convenient waterway transportation, and this provides a good opportunity for the development of marine tourism on Qinzhou Danjia culture. Based on mangroves and favourable terrain of the Qinzhou Gulf and taking boat as home, Danjia people create a rich spiritual civilization and material civilization and form a unique cultural landscape and distinctive folk culture in the long historical development. Tourism Value of Danjia Culture in Qinzhou

The specific research value is reflected in the following three aspects:

Historical and Cultural Value

Danjia culture has a long history. According to the related research, Danjia history can be traced back to the period of Jin Dynasty[4]. At that time nations were live together with Dan, after the Jin Dynasty; there were more historical records on Danjia. The book “Gui Hai Yu Heng Chronicles” said that the Danjia people are people who live on the sea. The book “Ling Wai Dai Da” of Song Dynasty said Danjia people live in boat on the sea just like living on land. The book “Tai Ping Huang Yu Ji” said that Danjia people would be more death if there live on land.

The rulers ruled harsh on Danjia people, which lead Danjia people live a poor life. They are not allowed to live on the land, to school and to marry with people who live on the land until the liberation. Therefore, history of existence and development of Danjia people is a microcosm of the history of the national development process. Suggestions on Developing Marine Tourism on Danjia Culture Qinzhou Danjia culture of marine tourism should rely on the carrier of the Beibu Gulf Economic Development Zone", and the background of “hometown of Dolphin ", "Qinzhou Bay Mangrove Wetland Nature Reserve, Qinzhou Maowei national Ocean Park", and create Danjia cultural tourism routes, highlight the mind of history, culture and entertainment. Then according to the Qinzhou Danjia family living, living habits and cultural heritage of the status quo, adopt the mode of experiential mangrove ecotourism + Danjia cultural industry to build a unique cultural ecological tourism area of Danjia in Xiniujiao of Qinzhou.

Respect for Nature; Lead a Comprehensive, Coordinated and Sustainable Development
With the development of society, Danjia has built a building on the shore. They have the fixed residence on the land. There are less people who live in a boat and on the sea. We should protect the Danjia culture, which are on the verge of extinction, such as “picking up pearl underwater, Tug-of-war on boat, rowing boat, salty-water song, say hello to parents-in law in the morning and night, sea sacrificial ceremony during Festival”. In addition, do not lead mangrove Danjia cultural ecological tourism to vulgarization and "pseudo folk custom", try to make the original Danjia traditional culture in front of the public, so that they experience the Danjia cultural and ecological tourism and have fun at the same time, also felt spirits of Danjia family to have courage to take risks, optimistic, respect for nature.

Plan Rationally and Create a Good Ecological Tourism Area
Do overall planning research for Danjia family living environment. At the same time, it should make a reasonable planning and research on the mangrove ecological environment. Because they are indispensable. Danjia family lost mangrove protection, Danmin culture will not be able to rely on. Mangrove lost Danjia culture; mangrove culture will become the "tragedy of the commons".

Optimize the Management Mechanism, Strengthen Supervision
Pay attention to the construction of personnel training and team, strengthen professional training, improve the management mechanism, establish the Danjia culture marine tourism management mechanism in Qinzhou, form Danjia cultural special management team, strengthen the protection and management of ecological tourism. Understand the connotation of Danjia cultural and ecological tourism correctly and avoid the protection type of closed and solidification.
