The analysis of the current situation of private higher education

Private higher education idea compared with public institutions of higher education, has the characteristics and advantages of great flexibility, but based on the "The Belt and Road" strategic development though there are many prominent problems restricting the scientific development under the new situation.

The lag of educational ideas and school running ideas;With the rapid development of education industry in recent years, private universities also ushered in the high-speed development period, the school continues to expand the scale and level of education have been significantly improved, but in its educational philosophy and ideology, there are a lot of private schools did not play to the characteristics of their own advantages and characteristics, follow and imitate the public higher education school teaching ideas and teaching mode and teaching methods, the lack of independent innovation and development of teaching philosophy. There are many schools will be running too much money into the concept of color blind teaching scale expansion and education settings, not for their own teaching resources and educational load carrying capacity comprehensive consideration, seeking to expand enrollment to increase the return to education, increase teaching income, a serious violation of the fundamental purpose of higher education at the same time, it is difficult to realize the scientific development of private colleges.

The curriculum is unreasonable. At present, many private universities set courses are in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Ministry of education, School of higher education teaching system of professional curriculum design or copy, according to the urgent needs of talents, but ignored its professional education actual strength to meet the teaching needs, not according to their own educational and professional background the advantages, curriculum characteristics of outstanding professional education and the education level of brand building, teaching many students in course learning is not able to achieve professional scientific research level, while there is no occupation education professional practice, lack of education development in line with its own curriculum and reform.[3]

Teachers and scientific research forces are relatively scarce. Many private universities established time is short, compared with the public schools of higher education, there are great teachers education drawbacks, although in the teaching or teaching environment, many private colleges have obvious advantages, but the purpose and essence of higher education or teaching itself, lack of teachers to achieve the level of comprehensive private colleges and Universities to improve. At the same time, many private colleges are the serious shortage of scientific research strength, private colleges and universities lack of basic scientific research, even if the funds have advantages, outstanding talents in research and education is not willing to carry out scientific research and education activities in private colleges, private colleges have not formed the platform to carry out research work, it also restricts the educational level and quality of private universities upgrade.

The target of talent training is not clear. Private college students generally did not reach the public higher education undergraduate school admission scores of students, although many regions have canceled between public and private universities score differences, but in many areas, the students in the examination, there would still be inclined to choose public university priority, the quality of private college students compared to the public the University has some disadvantages. In the teaching process of private universities, private universities are not combined with its own characteristics of the source of clear educational objectives and teaching plans, but the public university teaching copy, students can not meet the actual needs of learning, not for education and teaching from their own perspective, so students in the end in higher education, neither professional nor practical embarrassment, it is difficult to achieve good students employment process.
