Chinese Dream Corresponding to Chinese Modern History Outline

Ideological and political teaching is an important channel to promote the Chinese dream, and "Chinese Modern History Outline " (hereinafter referred to as "outline") is an important part of ideological and political theory course. The course carry out ideological and political education function from a historical point of view. The Understanding of Chinese dream should be from the development of contemporary and historical development, the intersection of the two is the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. "Outline" is an important material carrier which understands the Chinese dream from the perspective of historical development.

From a Macro Perspective, the Chinese Dream is a High Degree of Generalization of Outline Textbook. The meaning of the Chinese dream: the national revitalization and national prosperity, is the main line of Chinese modern history. “China’s generation after generation of people with lofty ideals and the people for the salvation and the realization of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation and heroic struggle hard to explore the history; People under the leadership of the Communist Party of China fight, through the new democratic revolution, to win the national independence and the liberation of the people; through the socialist revolution, construction and reform, an extremely weak old China gradually become a prosperous, full of vitality and vitality of the new socialist history of China. "The main line is the embodiment of the Chinese dream, the Chinese dream is the main line of concentration and sublimation, the Chinese dream is the inevitable result of the development of Chinese modern history. To understand the Chinese dream, we must "understand the history of the country, understand the national conditions", “the two understanding” is one of the teaching objectives of the "outline", China's modern history and national conditions are precisely the background of China's dream ideas. “Four choices”: the choice of Marxism, the choice of the Chinese Communist Party, the choice of socialism, the choice of reform and opening up, They are respectively the guiding ideology, leadership, system assurance and power for achievement of the Chinese dream.

Starting from the Specific, All Aspects of the Chinese Dream Embodied in the "outline" the Contents of Each Chapter. Modern China faces two major historical tasks: national independence and the liberation of the people, the realization of national prosperity, and common prosperity of people, They are the concrete manifestation of the Chinese dream. The emergence of the two historical tasks is precisely the transition from feudal society to semi-colonial and semi-feudal society, the transition from the old democratic revolution led by the bourgeoisie to the new democratic revolution led by the proletariat (mainly through the Chinese Communist Party), and through socialism Revolution, construction and reform, the two major historical tasks are gradually realized, the Chinese dream has gradually become a reality. The Chinese nation was an extraordinary creative nation and created great Chinese civilization. However, in the late period of Qianlong, the Chinese feudal society gradually faded. With the capital-imperialist aggression against China, the social nature of China began to change: Society gradually reduced to semi-colonial and semi-feudal society, since then, modern China showed a situation of poor and weak. It is the background of China's dream, the Chinese dream is to achieve the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Then, the peasant class, the landlord class and the bourgeoisie of China have explored the two historical tasks. However, the feudal relations of production of the small-scale peasantry are not suited to the development of capitalist productive forces, At the same time Because of the weakness of the national bourgeoisie, all lead to early exploration failure, To a certain extent, these explorations provide the preparatory work for achieving the Chinese dream. Sun Yat-sen, the pioneer of the Chinese democratic revolution, firstly put forward the slogan of "revitalizing China" and clearly expressed the significance of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. This is a dream of the whole nation. He led the bourgeois revolutionaries, through the Revolution of 1911, overthrowing the Qing dynasty feudal rule, ending of the rule of China monarchy, spreading the concept of democratic republic. In view of the historical process and social conditions, the Revolution did not change the old Chinese semi-colonial and semi-feudal social nature, did not change the tragic situation of the Chinese people, did not complete the historical mission of the national independence and the liberation of the people's, but it greatly promoted the Chinese National ideological emancipation, open the door to the trend of China's progress, for the development and progress of the Chinese nation to explore the road. With the failure of the Revolution of 1911, Chinese society and history called for a new class capable of taking on the task of national rejuvenation. In 1921, there was an "epoch-making event", namely, the establishment of the Communist Party of China, the class mission and the national mission , Bravely bear the great cause of national rejuvenation, the Chinese dream on the right track. Especially in the difficult years of the war of resistance against Japan, the Communist Party of China played the mainstay role. After the war of liberation, the Chinese Communist Party led the people of the whole country to victory in the new democratic revolution and established the People's Republic of China. The first generation of leading groups headed by Mao Zedong realized the second historic change of modern China. In 1954 the first session of the National People's Congress, the Chinese dream began to become clear, Mao Zedong announced a dream: to build a prosperous and modern power struggle. At one meeting of the Third People's Congress, Zhou Enlai declared four modern goals: to the end of the 20th century, modern agriculture, modern industry, modern science and technology, modern defense power. Under such a dream, our socialist modernization construction has achieved fruitful results, and the national rejuvenation of the distance and a step forward.
