Strengthen and innovate the social management is necessary to promote social justice in the new situation, and to build a harmonious society. But to some extent, challenges are exist between the stability of the rule of raw and the variability of innovation [1]. Therefore, in the process of social management innovation, how to handle the relationship between innovation and the rule of law has become a must concern.

The Fourth Plenary Session of Sixteenth Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party in 2004 were pointed out that the pattern of social management is: “Party committee leadership, government responsibility, social coordination, public participation” [3]. The Fifth Plenary Session of Seventeenth Central Committee pointed out that “According to the requirement of social management pattern which are Party committee leadership, government responsibility, social coordination, public participation, to strengthen the construction of law, institutional mechanisms and capacity of social management”. Under the guidance of these documents, the overall situation of social management in china is good currently. But there are still some problems existed. For example, attaches great importance to the administrative measures, rather than to the rule of law means; attaches great importance to the personal authority, rather than to the rule of law authority; attaches great importance to the application of policies, rather than to the formulation and implementation of the rule of law. The existence of all these problems restricted the deepening of social management innovation. At the same time, all these problems are lack of co-ordination with the process of a socialist country under the rule of law, and do not match with the implementation of law governing strategy.

Social management is an important part of the implementation of the rule of law. The existence of all these problems restricted the deepening of social management innovation. At the same time, all these problems are lack of co-ordination with the process of a socialist country under the rule of law, and do not match with the implementation of law governing strategy.

We should let the legalization of social management as the guiding ideology, basic path and the main method of current and future social management innovation [5]. Therefore, we should do the social management innovation under the guidance of policy objective of the “harmonious society”, and continuously improve the legal systems, do efforts to promote the way of law enforcement, enhance the ability to act in accordance with the law.

There are important relationship between “Legal guarantee” and social management innovation. In one hand, “Legal guarantee” plays an important role on social management innovation. First, “Legal guarantee” give scientific definition to the functions of government, and provide institutional guarantees to the social management innovation. Second, “Legal guarantee” improve the policy system in social construction to lay a solid institutional basis for social management innovation. Third, “Legal guarantee” build the framework of the rule of law for social management innovation. On the other hand, social management innovation plays a positive role to promote legal system construction. First, make up the rule of law vacancies through social management innovation. Let the social management innovation as an opportunity to find out the problems which are exist in our current legal system construction. We should absorb and learn advanced management concepts of modern management, and constantly improve the ability and level of rule of law. Second, improve the legal system through social management innovation. If proven some social management system is not able to adapt to the demands of the times and the new situation, then, should promptly formulate new laws.
and regulations, reform and improve the system to ensure the legitimacy of the innovative initiatives.

The strict social management of administrative law enforcement is an important guarantee for strengthening social management innovation. D. Resolve social conflicts within the framework of the rule of law to create a harmonious social atmosphere for social management.

The rule of law is the best way to solve conflicts in calm and rational way, is also the basic methods and best mode for social governance. So, at first, reduce the “conflicts between official and people”[6] through governing by law. Second, it is necessary to improve the administrative law remedy system, smooth legal relief channels, further improve the conflicts settlement full diversification mechanism, and minimize those disharmony factors. For example, reform and improve the petition system; construct administrative mediation system; improve the information disclosure mechanism as well as social security and assistance mechanisms to resolve social conflicts; establish sound expression mechanism, social consultation and dialogue mechanisms.

E. Administrative accountability and supervision is institutional guarantee for social management innovation

Our government is the people's government, must be responsible to the people. While the law gives the government authority, it also set the duties and obligations of the government.
